

Carter Thunk It

The popular "one year ago today" series here at USMNEWS.net recently reminded us all. Former CoB dean Harold Doty is [deleted]. Management professor David Duhon was undeservedly promoted. The Undergraduate Programs office is the epitome of inefficiency. Management journals are basically schlock. There are no scholars in accounting. The top scholar in economics is Ed Nissan. When faculty "take on" administrators, faculty get "stuffed." It is ill-advised for untenured faculty to leave an institution before getting tenure. USM, as an institution, is rapidly spiraling downward. These, and more, are all thoughts had by EFIB chairman George Carter in either 2006 or 2007. As you can see, the 2006-07 period was a particularly bad one for Carter. Now, the long-time EFIB chairman is approaching the final chapter of his CoB career, and as an ousted administrator falling back into the obscurity from which he came. One by one the vestiges of the Harold Doty administration (2003-07) are falling to the side. Carter is no exception, and that's good for the CoB.
