Dear usmnews.net,

How much longer is the IHL going to tolerate that foolish woman who pretends to be a university president? "President" Saunders' best excuse for the improper purchase of a mountain of Samsung Tablets is that none of the paperwork crossed her desk. C'mon!!

Let me ask some of the questions that the IHL should, but probably won't, be asking her.

Did she ever ask to see the paperwork?

Didn't she know that the donor withdrew his commitment to fund the Tablets?

Didn't she know the money had to come from somewhere?

Since the private donor had withdrawn his commitment, didn't the money have to come from State or University funds?

Didn't she know that the IHL did not approve university funding for the things?

Didn't she attend all the IHL meetings? [Isn't she the one who takes her plane to the meetings?]

Isn't it her job to make sure that paperwork for purchases approach a half million dollars is done right?

How many other "little caches of $400,000" are laying around and available to fund administrators' shopping sprees?

Maybe if "President" Saunders spent more time doing her job instead of making expensive, amateur videos of which she is the "star", Southern Miss wouldn't be laboring under a mountain of humiliating publicity and wasted resources.

Name withheld by request
