Dear usmnews.net,

I did not want to rain on your institution's parade but based on his credentials, Bennett is a real light weight. I can see why they don't want his vita widely shared. His has zero experience in managing an institution. I do not think that he has written a single academic paper or delivered a single conference paper, nor can I find that he is he a member of any national educational body, even his highest degree from Tennessee State is weak. These kind of candidates usually crash and burn.
