Dear usmnews.net,

When you read The Hattiesburg American article in praise of Southern Miss' online MBA program, you have to question who would pay to attend an online "unranked" graduate business program at a bottom tier university. If I'm getting my degree online -- it won't matter where I'm located -- I'm going to attend a ranked program at a top tier university (or at least as high up in the rankings as I can get admitted.)
