Dear usmnews.net,

Some things just strike me as odd. Jeff Hammond who has been accused of harassing and threatening female employees has been assigned to work with veterans and their families. Some of those veterans and family members are going to be females. Some of those veterans (male and female) may be emotionally fragile after having served in a war zone. Is Jeff going to scream and yell at them, too?

It's just one more example of expensive shortsighted administrative "problem solving." Bennett gets the unhappy pro-Hammond sports fans off his back by putting Hammond into what looks to me, and many others, like a make work job.
