Dear Skip:

Everyone's assumption is that your orders from Dean Nail include changing the research culture in Accounting, returning the teaching to the (old days?) level of medal-winning students and first-time passers of the CPA and CMA exams. Part of that mission will be accomplished when you examine the number of accounting practices run out of the first floor of JAG, and the number of and profits of continuing education courses taught out of your soon-to-be office.

We wish you the best of luck with your program for change.
