

A Few of the Many Comments When EaglePosters Learned Rodney Bennett would be USM President

<http://www.eaglepost.net/forum/viewtopic.php?f=2&t=34134&sid=22768ab8c346c985fb5fb0873a75efd6&start=30>

Re: NEW PRESIDENT @ USM

↳ by CantonEagle » Fri Feb 01, 2013 11:34 am

Black Diamond Reb wrote:

Laurel eagleson wrote:

Will be Bennett

<http://studentaffairs.uga.edu/people/pr...nnett-ed.d>

Got EJ written all over it. MTSU, Tenn Tech, UGA... champion of diversity and ethics... yep, a real winner
here. Hell, I'm more qualified than this guy.

Re: NEW PRESIDENT @ USM

↳ by WorkingEagle » Fri Feb 01, 2013 11:51 am

CantonEagle wrote:

Wait, USM has held this position open for over a year to have 2 vp's of students and a math professor? WTF? That's all the interest we could generate? No smaller university presidents? No retired Fortune 500 CEO's? No retired government officials?

Damn, we have surely fallen. If the quality of our finalists don't tell you something about the outside opinion of our university, you're blind. We are surely doomed. To quote Clark Griswold, "Holy shit, where's the Tylenol."

Sadly, that's pretty much spot-on it appears, Canton.

Re: NEW PRESIDENT @ USM

by CantonEagle » Sat Feb 02, 2013 3:04 pm

WinOrLoseEagle wrote:

CantonEagle wrote:

I'll give the guy a chance before I pull my donations. But, if I see my money going towards "diversity" projects instead of academics or scholarships, I'm done. And I know I'm not alone.

Re: NEW PRESIDENT @ USM

by Mao Tse-gore » Sun Feb 03, 2013 11:29 am

Many will attempt to soothe themselves with fantasy and denial, but we know what was done, why it was done, who did it, and what this means for the future of USM; and the reality of this trajectory is bad, all bad.

Re: NEW PRESIDENT @ USM

by CantonEagle » Sun Feb 03, 2013 2:17 pm

OldRanchHand wrote:

So, if the new president were white and still increased funding for projects to make all students feel welcome (what you call "diversity"), would you still pull your donations?

Glad you can read my mind on what diversity means???

But yes, if a white president started using my money on diversity projects like forcing people to attend classes that they don't feel comfortable attending that have nothing to do with progressing their academic knowledge, then yes. We need to find a niche as a university. Diversity is the last thing USM needs to focus on.