

GH Chatter

The recent USMNEWS.net story about EFIB chairman George Carter's "EFIB Fridays" paper presentation is providing water cooler fodder around the greater CoB. Word is that former TM chair Cheri Becker has a good story about Carter's so-called knowledge of the inner workings of the human body. Carter's "How do We Know?" research presentation is sure to be a topic of conversation in JAG for many years to come.

Based on recent CoB chatter, one might conclude that more and more CoBers believe new CoB dean Lance Nail will ultimately fail to turn the CoB around. What concerns most is Nail's recurring absence from JAG.

Believe it or not, but some CoBers are saying that former CoB dean Harold Doty is close to landing a new appointment at an institution west of the Mississippi River. It's difficult to imagine why another university would want Doty now, especially after all that has been exposed about him and his shortcomings since his arrival at USM back in 2003. If this yet unnamed institution flips the switch, we could know something by Christmas break.

GH Chatter is a series at USMNEWS that provides a glimpse at what CoB students, and sometimes CoB faculty, are discussing throughout the corridors of Joseph Greene Hall and beyond.
