

GH Chatter

Akbar Marvasti's first foray into the EFIB hiring machine is drawing a lot of attention. As the leader of this year's EFIB search team, Marvasti's selection of finalists is "turning heads" in and outside of Joseph Greene Hall. It looks like making the CoB "a fun place to work" might be high on the agenda again.

Some CoB faculty have been discussing management professor Stephen Bushardt's latest crusade against what Bushardt is complaining is the CoB administration's failure to follow various procedures in the CoB's faculty handbook, Enhancing Faculty Productivity. Imagine that – CoB administrators not following stated policies. By "administration," one must assume that Bushardt is being critical of "good friends" Alvin Williams (Dean) and Joseph Peyrefitte (Associate Dean), both members of Bushardt's own department. Does any of this make sense? Maybe, but the "chatter" has yet to reach any consensus on it.

GH Chatter is a series at USMNEWS that provides a glimpse at what CoB students, and sometimes CoB faculty, are discussing throughout the corridors of Joseph Greene Hall and beyond.
