Word around Greene Hall these days is that economics instructor Susan Doty (“Ms. Doty”) may not have been “let go” after all, as reported previously. The story now is that she will soon be teaching business administration and management courses. Though her move from EFIB to MGT would, as one CoBer put it, “take another brick out of the ECO wall,” it would also put Ms. Doty in the position of potentially shortchanging the State of Mississippi vis-à-vis her responsibilities to the Mississippi Council on Economic Education. At least while teaching various sections of ECO 101 and ECO 201/202 for EFIB chairman George Carter, Ms. Doty was practicing the craft that Mississippians were expecting of her. However, putting themselves in public service positions while at the same time putting themselves first is what some are saying is “the Doty way.” One thing Ms. Doty’s pending move to MGT does is make USMNEWS.net reporters and editorialists look more like savants than they already did. What do we mean? Well, check out this installment of From the Ghost of Christmas Future that originally ran on 8-June-07, or almost 2 years ago!

Greene Hall chatter has it that Jacqueline Garner, dean Lance Nail’s top choice to lead the new department of finance, real estate and legal studies (FINRELS), is going to say “yes” to the offer. If so, she will be joining the CoB from Drexel University, which is said to be a Tier 2 institution.

GH Chatter is a series at USMNEWS that provides a glimpse at what CoB students, and sometimes CoB faculty, are discussing throughout the corridors of Joseph Greene Hall and beyond.
