Former SAIS Director Stan Lewis Moves On

As reported previously by USMNEWS.NET, the CoB's former SAIS Director Stanley X. Lewis is now on the faculty at Troy University in Alabama. A recent tip indicates that Lewis, formerly a professor of MIS at USM, is now an associate professor of accounting at Troy University. For verification of Lewis' new rank, see the insert below:

The next screen below indicates that two of Lewis' courses (the ones on the Troy, AL, campus) are auditing courses in the accounting department:

One of these appears to be an UG course in auditing (ACT 4497), while the other is an advanced auditing course in Troy's graduate program (ACT 6698). If Lewis is supposed to be teaching accounting courses, as the Troy web pages above suggest, then the CoB "misused" his services while employed at USM. That would mean the CoB's AACSB accreditation portfolio has shortcomings that have heretofore gone unnoticed.
