

Martha's Podium

An Editorial Cartoon Series from USMNEWS.net

While we all wait for the search committee to forward its recommendation to the president, and then for her to make a final decision, I just want to reiterate that I am so excited about the idea of being your next provost. I live right up the road from here, which gives me at least one advantage over the other finalists. I've also got some ideas I want to lob at UWF students in order to enrich their time here.

This is bizarre. I thought this press conference was called by the prez to announce the choice. Did Saunders call this press conference from her beach house?
