

Privacy

Many first time visitors nationwide and internationally began reading usmnews.net because of a The Chronicle of Higher Education story, entitled “Why Privacy Matters Even if You Have Nothing to Hide”.

Here's today's government visitor to www.usmnews.net (they don't visit on the weekends):

Mississippi, Department Of Information Technology (205.144.230.44) [Label IP Address]

Madison, Mississippi, United States, 83 returning visits

DateTimeTypeWebPage23rd May 201107:07:41Page ViewNo referring linkwww.usmnews.net/23rdMay 201107:35:08Page ViewNo referring linkwww.usmnews.net/23rd May 201107:58:53Page ViewNo referring linkwww.usmnews.net/

They visit daily. Either state employees are spending a lot of taxpayers' money on their personal visits or the Mississippi government is monitoring our website daily. This has been going on for years. Mississippi Department of Information Technology refuses to provide information about their monitoring of our website when asked through freedom of information requests. We are a long time critic of the University of Southern Mississippi administrations and have won our legal battle against them to preserve my freedom of speech.

Chauncey M. DePree, Jr., DBA
Editor, www.usmnews.net
And Professor
School of Accountancy
College of Business
University of Southern Mississippi