Is Mark Klinedinst Angling for a Course Release? An Investigative Series on the Use of the CoB for Personal Gain

CoB faculty were likely very surprised to receive a recent e-mail indicating that economics professor Mark Klinedinst and management assistant professor Jennifer Sequeira were "kicking off" a Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) initiative (see partial announcement below).

Students in Free Enterprise 2007 Kickoff!!!

For more information contact Prof. Mark Klinedinst (6-4649) or Prof. Jennifer Sequeira (6-4673).

Much of the surprise probably had more to do with the association of "Mark Klinedinst" and "Free Enterprise" than anything else. However, a source tells usmpride.com that Klinedinst has been angling for a course release from EFIB Chairman George Carter for his (Klinedinst's) "work" on the WEAVE database (SACS). Although that course release hasn't been produced, we are told that Klinedinst may have found the ticket with this new SIFE initiative. Sure, Klinedinst may have to hold his nose to work on a "free enterprise" project, but the course release (if forthcoming) could make it all worthwhile.
