

The 'Lurking' President

It's Time for Sports All of the Time with Martha D. Saunders

USM president Martha Saunders' latest six Tweets, all spanning from 4-Sept-2011 to 8-Oct-2011, are depicted below. Of these six Tweets, only one does not concern USM football. That one, from 14-Sept-2011, is a short note about how Saunders enjoyed her 13-Sept-2011 meeting with the USM student government association, a group sources tell USMNEWS.net that Saunders sees as some of the "cool kids" on the USM campus. How cool? Reports are that they were late additions to the free Samsung Galaxy Tab™ 10.1 Tablets program that Saunders is so proud to have led.

As stated above, the other five Tweets concern USM's football games against Louisiana Tech, Southeastern Louisiana, Rice, and Navy. "Southern Miss Wins!" is a popular refrain from Saunders' Twitter account. All of this seems, to some at least, to tie back into Saunders' speech at the 2011 fall convocation, wherein she directed an assurance to those who "lurk about" USM sports message boards in fear that USM will get left out of college football's major spoils in the near future. That assurance appears to be the result of Saunders' own "lurking about" USM sports message boards, a notion that her use of Twitter only supports.