Listen up everybody,
Dean Toady wants us
to put together a program where
siblings can team up to
complete one degree,
yet both receive
diplomas in the end.

Wtf? How would we get such a degree plan
by the AACSB folks?
You know, President
Marberry is already on our case. I don't know about this.

Look, it's not that big a deal. Don't you know that Donald Arnaud is the head of our Peer Review Team? It's in the bag.

But still . . . this is AACSB we're talking about. . . .

Yeah, and you'd better
watch your mouth, Red,
and your teaching schedule if you don't! I say let's do this thing.
It's not my degree we're talking about.

I just can't see President Marberry going for this.

I hear what you're saying, Red. But, Dean Toady has never gone up against President Marberry and lost. Plus, you're assuming Marberry will find out about this.

Thanks for backing me up, Dr. Nearydom. Now, we need to finalize the plan for dealing with the re-carpeting of the building. The course schedule will need a major adjustment.
