Okay folks, Teddy is teaching, so it's just us. However, university counsel, Mr. Wilford, is joining us via Skype. That's why I brought my iPad today. Go ahead, Mr. Wilford.

Thank you, Dr. Treelung. It seems we have a sticky situation to deal with.

What would that be, Lonnie?

Well, I have Dr. Ramivoozi with me now, and he's just provided some testimony to the effect that some faculty over there are trying to get a copy of his c.v., thus violating his right to privacy.

Lonnie, I've warned at least one person not to look into Dr. Ramivoozi's academic record.

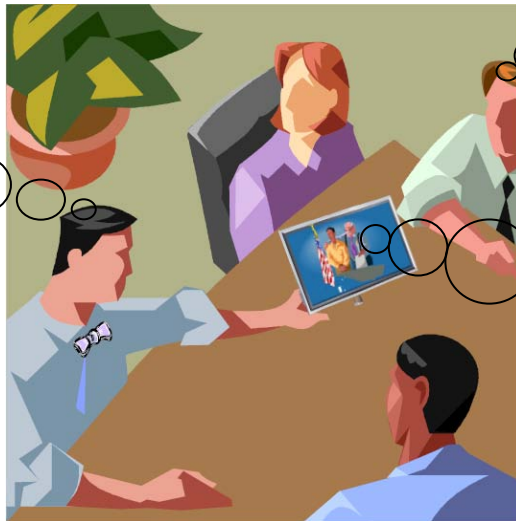

Is this a dream, or am I really hearing this right now?

I warned you, Red. But, you wouldn't listen.

This is nuts! Can't we just Google his record and examine it from there?

I'm a company man on this one, Lonnie. Send us some written instructions if you don't mind.

I wouldn't advise that, Red. Dr. Ramivoozi is pretty upset, and you're clearly in the wrong here. Dr. Treelung, I'll forward his statement, along with some guidelines for going forward.
