Cynthia, I'm glad I caught you before the meeting today.

What's on your mind, Dr. Treelung?

It's just that I noticed you talking to Red before our last meeting. I don't think he's someone you need to associate yourself with.

Really?

Here is a list of our current faculty that I think you would do well to emulate. They're superior performers.

This next list contains names of our faculty who I think you should get to know . . . talk to. You can learn a lot about our culture and history from them. If you want to talk to me about any of this, just let me know.

Thank you very much, Dr. Treelung. I'll look these over.
