

On April 29, 2005 Stan Lewis wrote:

“Rod is gone again today, no explanation, no word as to why. He spends most of each Friday doing Lion's Club work and generally away from campus. Had Wanda calling on Lion's Club business this week. Has had her and student workers doing Lion's Club work while paid by university. He also does not complete Permission to Travel forms often until after he returns from a trip. Some seem to have to comply with rules and others do not.”

I guess Rod can get special dispensation to use University facilities for personal business from Lee Gore (<http://www.usmnews.net/gore112906.pdf>) just as George Carter did (<http://www.usmnews.net/IMMAIL.pdf>) . Since Rod violated the rules from your observations, Stan, what did you do about it? We'll return to this issue when we review a recent Chronicle of Higher Education article, “Does Tenure Really Work?” (3/9/07) You've gotta know where I'm going with this. cmd