

Special Report – Where is Martha Saunders (in the Galaxy Tab Scandal)?

In August 2011, when the Galaxy Tab scandal first broke, usmnews.net and its readers raised the obvious question -- “No doubt this was an inside deal ... where was the bid for these services? Was this the best price the State could negotiate for an “experiment”?” Now three senior administrators at Southern Miss have been suspended for their role.

However, one must ask, what is Martha Saunders’ roll in this mess? Certainly, Saunders was front and center in the PR extravaganza, all smiles, as she passed out the Galaxy Tabs to selected students. There she was taking credit for her offering as if she were Mrs. Claus.

Three of her subordinates have been suspended for their roll in the mismanagement. Will Saunders be next?